New evangelization: Implementing a council from within

Come Thursday, Oct. 11, 2012, we will commemorate the 50th anniversary of the solemn opening of the Second Vatican Council. On that same day, the universal Catholic community will inaugurate a Year of Faith proposed by Pope Benedict XVI in order to intensify the inner spiritual renewal for which the council called.

This half century high mark of the council's inception (it remains a process as well as an event) evokes some powerful memories for me. I had the privilege and grace of being in St. Peter's Basilica that autumn morning in 1962 as Pope John XXIII spoke of his hopes for the gathering which he had just convoked. Within the ritual of that Eucharist he asked everyone to join him in a solemn oath to "be faithful to the teachings of the council ... whatever they would be."

Like the others present that day, I took it word for word from his mouth. It was a moment of confident wonderment. In my mind's eye, I can still picture his feet, not quite touching the floor and moving in energetic rhythm to match the passion of his words.

Who could have guessed the full extent of patient commitment and conversion he requested?

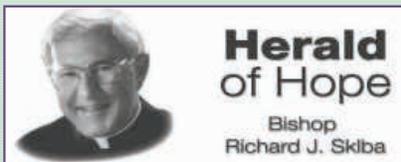

The three goals of that historic assembly were spelled out carefully: the spiritual renewal of the church, the reconciliation of the churches and the transformation of the world by the Gospel as lived and proclaimed by the church united. Doom's Day laments were brushed aside as ineffective.

Eastern Orthodox and Protestant observers had been invited. Their participation in the formation of the 16 council documents became itself a process of dialogue and conversion for everyone. In retrospect it is clear that each document was a blend of continuity with the past and fresh application to new circumstances. No one could have guessed the impact they would have or the debates they would trigger. The religious world had changed for everyone.

Over the next four sessions a much beloved Pope John was buried and his successor, who had assumed the name of the Apostle to the Gentiles and the 16th century implementers of the Council of Trent, accepted the duty of resolutely guiding that council to its completion.

All the conciliar debates spilled over into the front pages of the world's press. The Catholic Church sometimes occasionally stumbled in its efforts at communication, but also learned how to dialogue more effectively with its world. The entire world had been pulled into the drama of ecclesial renewal.

On the final day of the fourth session, Dec. 8, 1965, to be exact, the Fathers of the council sent messages to significant portions of humanity: to rulers of state, to people of thought and science, to artists, to women, to the poor, sick and suffering, to workers and to the youth. Those messages are well worth carefully perusing again after all these years! They speak the language of evangelization.

Likewise encyclical letters such as John XXIII's Mater et Magistra (1961) and Pacem in Terris (1963), Paul VI's Populorum Progressio (1967) and Evangelii nuntiandi (1975) and John Paul II's Ut unum Sint (1995) assured that social justice and ecumenism would again become permanent hallmarks of Catholic identity. Any new Catholic effort at evangelization must take those teachings seriously. A Pentecostal wind of reevangelization had been released into the world.

I remember with fondness sharing supper with Archbishop William E. Cousins a few days before the final session of the council, and being a witness to his musing that he "was returning to 10 of the toughest years of his life, but it will be worth it."

He came back to Milwaukee a changed man and a different shepherd. He established parish councils and liturgical commissions. He was confronted by stumbling local implementation of reforms by people who read the directives but did not understand their deeper meaning. He also had to face the terrible racial unrest of the late 60s.

External habits can sometimes change with surprising ease, but the reshaping of inner human attitudes of faith and charity takes decades. Looking back at even earlier church history, I am comforted by the fact that it was only with the election of Pope Pius XII in 1939 that the mind of the First Vatican Council – which was prematurely terminated in 1869 – came to effective implementation some 70 years later.

Italian national politics and revolution had prevented the completion of their ecclesial agenda. Perhaps it was providential that almost a century was still needed for more mature reflection on the role of the laity, the power of the liturgy and the pastoral responsibilities of priests and bishops. The Second Vatican Council provided that needed complement.

People of our American age and culture often lament that the reforms of the Second Vatican Council have been thwarted and sidelined. To some extent that is true. At least in my judgment, however, a deeper truth is at work in our midst, and one much more profound.

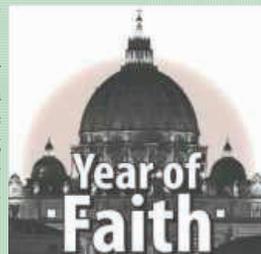

Once again, the wisdom of the foundresses of our local communities of sisters says it all when they taught that the work of God in human hearts is often painfully slow ... "Alles geht langsam und deutlich!"

The Second Vatican Council invited the Catholics of the entire world to the church's table. The fact that they showed up is itself a great implementation of the council's wisdom. Africans, however, came with their struggles against tribalism; South Americans came with the scars of colonialism; Asians came with their preoccupation with saving face and North Americans came with a certain arrogant presumption that the rest of the world should see things our way and embrace our solutions to the needs of their world.

We still have much to learn from each other and from the ways in which each culture lives its faith. The evangelization of cultures, our own and that of others, is long hard work. I am completely confident that it will eventually be successful. The Quakers sit in silence at prayer, "awaiting God to do what we cannot do for ourselves." They may be more on target than we realize.

Moving the liturgy into vernacular only unleashed the inevitable debate as to which kind of English should be used. We've only begun that conversation, and imposing one view or another is not the final solution to the challenge. The prophet Jeremiah once lamented that the house cleaning and reformation of Temple liturgy in his day demanded a change of heart, not merely refurbishing the altar (Jer 7:1-23). He also was on target with the Word of the Lord!

Allowing ourselves to be evangelized by the liberating power of the Gospel, and discovering the full meaning of our union in the Body of Christ as a humble Pilgrim People is our task. It remains a reminder that we ourselves still must change just as we expect others to do so.

At this point in history as the archdiocese we need to focus on:

- a new engagement with the Word of God
- a deeper appreciation of the Eucharist as source and summit of Life
- a fresh commitment to the fullness of justice and peace

Someone of my vintage knows the experience of the Second Vatican Council, and the difference when that experience has become a document to be continually relived in a new manner by successive generations. Meanwhile, the ancient wisdom of the prophet Habakkuk remains clear, "Write down the vision ... if it delays, wait for it, it will surely come, it will not be late" (2:2f). Evangelization is that process and that goal.

From The Servant's Quarters

- "It is not good for the human being I created to be alone," to paraphrase the Lord in the Book of Genesis. The Almighty has not only blessed us with the beauty of the world, the Lord has given us a seemingly infinite variety of animals and life forms. The epitome of this is the gift of other human beings just like us!

- October is a special month to deepen our appreciation for all life. October 4th we focused on a particular hero of faith who witnessed to this in a most dramatic and extreme way, St. Francis of Assisi. He felt such a kinship with the created world that he addressed the creatures and the elements as "brother" and "sister." Through living in this keen awareness of the connectedness of all things, Francis deepened in devotion and love for the One responsible for such wonder and awe.

- Much of my appreciation of St. Francis came from the Capuchin Franciscans of the Province of St. Joseph, head quartered in Detroit, Michigan. In attempting to be true to this Gospel spirit, they have developed this Mission Statement in recent years: Inspired by the gospel of Jesus Christ and the example of Francis of Assisi, the Capuchin Friars of the Province of St. Joseph, together with our partners in ministry, prayerfully build sister-brotherhood in the world. We attend simply and directly to the spiritual and other basic human needs, especially those of the poor and disenfranchised, promoting justice for all.

- To summarize their Mission Statement, they have developed the motto, Transforming the world through reverence. Isn't this a powerful message we need to hear during this time of global and political turmoil! May we all pray with St. Francis of Assisi, "Make me an instrument of your peace!"

- With my special devotion to St. Francis, I've been hoping to eventually install his famous cross of San Damiano over the fireplace in the great room. A cross that would be proportionate to that space could be a bit pricey. Is anyone interested in helping me pursue this? You can visit a website where these crosses are displayed: www.nelsongifts.com/catalog/large_canvas.html, page 17.4

- Did you hear the latest "goings on" in Heaven? St. Peter got a black eye! He called St. Francis "a sissy!"

ST. JAMES LITURGY INVOLVEMENT

INVITING CHILDREN, YOUTH & THEIR FAMILIES

Our community prayer, the liturgy of the Eucharist or the Mass is at the heart of being Catholic Christians. It forms us as children of God and challenges us to live the Gospel. Involvement of your family can only make your experience of worship and that of the parish richer. We need to foster involvement in the liturgy for all ages. Note the many opportunities below.

Acolytes. For Grade 5 and up. Youth are able to help our adult acolytes during Sunday Mass. If your older son or daughter would be interested in this ministry, contact Peggy Troestler (246-9921).

Art & Environment. People are always needed to help prepare our worship space for prayer. You could help design ways to make the space beautiful; do sewing or simply help set up or take down seasonal materials in church which is a great family project! Contact Sue Mangan 262-366-1211.

Eucharistic Ministers. Older teens and adults can help share the Eucharist with God's people. Training is provided to help make this ministry meaningful. (contact Mary Syverson at 246-8834).

Greeters. Your family could become active in the Greeter Ministry. Contact Dee Ooton (246-6115) if you are interested and, if so, how often you can serve the parish in this special way.

Liturgical Dance. All are welcome—call Sue Mangan at 366-1211.

Music Ministers. Do you sing? Do you play an instrument (drums, percussion, guitar, other strings, flute, horn)? Join one of our choirs, who practice on Mondays at 7 pm in church or Wednesdays at 7 pm in church. Contact Barb (251-3944, ext. 101) to find out more or simply show up. No rehearsals the first Monday and Wednesday of the month.

Petition Readers. For Grades 3 and up. To participate as a petition reader, it would be best if your child has a desire to help us pray, is comfortable with reading aloud and projecting their voice with feeling, and can be part of a short practice before the weekend he/she will read. We need parents to help the children during Mass, and adults to become lectors themselves! All interested lectors contact Bob Stolarczyk (246-6505).

Presentation of the Gifts. All families are welcome. Please check in with an usher 10 minutes prior to Mass.

Children's Choir Opportunity

The St. James Children's Choir (Grades 3-8) "Meet and Greet" will be held in Church on Wednesday, October 17th at 5:30 pm. All interested folks are welcome. Come and meet Mrs. Terry Grennier, a new parishioner, who brings her many years of experience as St. Anthony's Children's Choir Director to our parish.

Liturgical Dancing

Singing is the JOY of the VOICE --if used in Liturgy it is a PRAYER

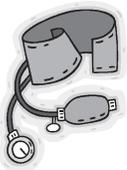

Dancing is the JOY of the BODY - if used in Liturgy it is a PRAYER.

WE have several young people that would love to Dance in Prayer--

But they need adult leadership to help prepare them.

If you would like to lead & inspire our Liturgical Dancers, Please call Sue at 262-366-1211.

BLOOD PRESSURE SCREENING NEXT WEEKEND

Blood pressure screenings will take place after the Saturday 4:30pm Mass and 8:15am Mass on the 13th and 14th of October. Blood pressure screening will not take place after the October 14th Mass at 10:15am due to the Festival of Faith activities. Please come and get your blood pressure taken next month on the 10th and 11th of November after Mass or feel free to stop by the parish nurse's office and Pam will take your blood pressure. Her hours are Tues-Thurs; best time is in the mornings (9am – 12pm) as she is out visiting parishioners in the afternoons. Thank you for your help with this change.

Thank you to the parishioner who donated $100 to the Health Ministry to put towards first aid kits in our parish! Your kindness is greatly appreciated and will be put to good use. Also, if anyone has a DVD player they no longer are using the Parish Nurse will put it to good use. Many of our homebound parishioners would love to listen and view our St. James Mass in their homes. Andy Pomeroy records one of our Masses each weekend and places the DVDs in the Parish Nurse's box by her office door for anyone to borrow. Pam and other Eucharistic Ministers/Visitors take them to homebound parishioners. Many would love to watch our parish family at Mass and feel our church family presence. You can call Pam or bring your donation to her office.

Fields of Hope and Dreams – Community Gardens

What??? . . . Another garden??? . . . Our volunteers have started to talk about another garden that would be developed next spring. In addition to last year's new Field of Hope garden and our three year old Field of Dreams garden, we're talking about a "memorial" garden to honor Jerry Gnadt, our past Trustee, who championed our initial garden. Conceptually, we're talking about a "smaller" round shaped garden that we'll call a "Pizza" garden with separate triangular slices of the pizza (i.e. garden plots) planted with different herbs that could be used on a pizza or on other dishes to help spice things up. The location and size of the garden along with the types of herbs to be planted are still in the planning phase. The Cooperating Churches of Sussex's (CCOS) food pantry's clients already enjoy our garlic, basil, parsley and chives that help spice up donated boxed foods such as instant mashed potatoes. So adding more herbs is appealing to the food pantry clients. Since this is a St. James community garden, we'd like to hear your thoughts on the idea. To give us your input or suggestions call (414) 587-1202 or email pschneider@wi.rr.com. We continue to think of Jerry and his contributions to our garden projects every time we pass under the arbor he donated to the Field of Dreams garden. He seems to always be looking over us. Thank you for your support of our gardens and the CCOS food pantry.
